

Clearwave's Healthcare Solution Suite Now Runs On Hardware Platform and Hosting Solution Powered by Dell

ATLANTA – June 23, 2010 - Clearwave Corporation announces that the company's healthcare solution suite will now run on a hardware platform and hosting solution powered by Dell. The Clearwave suite of solutions allows for medical facilities to have an end-to-end network solution that not only improves front-end processes, but also enhances revenue cycle management.

The Clearwave network makes up the core of Clearwave's solution suite and allows medical facilities to share data and integrate with disparate systems while also conducting real-time eligibility and patient identification through a self-service kiosk. Additionally, Clearwave offers workflow enhancement, payment estimating and referral processing capabilities.

"Our ultimate goal is to allow our clients to realize better financial results through our networked solutions," said Clearwave CEO, Gerard White. "Currently, Clearwave is realizing significant growth in all aspects of our business. To meet the challenges related to this growth we needed a partner that can provide a multitude of services that allow us to scale quickly. Dell provides those types of services and they have a large healthcare footprint that can assist us at all levels within our organization", said Gerard White, CEO Clearwave.
